MEMBERSHIP REQUIREMENTS

Companion Membership

The applicant must be professionally and actively employed in a position intrinsically related to cinematography, for a period acceptable to the membership committee. The Membership committee will be the sole arbiter for which applicants may be accepted under this class.

The applicant must be either a Canadian Citizen, Canadian Landed Immigrant, Canadian resident for the last two years, or have proof of a meaningful tie to Canada or the Canadian filmmaking community. The applicant's meaningful ties to Canada will be considered and decided by the Membership Committee and its chair(s). Applicants may also include any qualified individual who self-identifies as Indigenous (First Nations, Métis, Inuit,...) with ancestral lands within or overlapping what is currently called Canada.

Companion members shall not have general voting privileges; they may be requested to voice their opinion prior to a vote being cast by other members.

Companion members are encouraged to attend general CSC meetings and to serve on most committees.

Companion members are not listed as a Cinematographer in publications of the Society.

Companion members are encouraged to volunteer reasonable time to assist in the Society's activities and operations, on occasional request from the Society's management. Examples of such activities might include assisting at CSC events (educational, awards, public relations), or providing expertise with technology for CSC operations.
